

Voice Lessons

Have you ever wanted to learn to sing, but were afraid to try? Although there is such a thing as naturally talented, most of us have to work at it! Vocal technique can be learned, much like the discipline of sports or driving a clutch car. Most people can build themselves a pleasing singing voice through consistent, focused study.

Whether you have professional aspirations or you just want to have fun, Valerie can help you gain the skills you need. With a thorough grounding in classical technique, Valerie will show you how to apply the principles of healthy vocal production to every style of music while avoiding the pitfalls. If you want to fulfill your dream to sing well, give lessons with Valerie a try.

Valerie Williams has been teaching people to sing for over fifteen years. A full member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, Valerie has worked with both men and women from the ages of 5 to 75, in styles ranging from country to rock to classical.

An eclectic artist, Valerie has performed opera with Kitsap Opera and Seattle Opera previews, sung with a nationally recognized vocal jazz quartet and recorded in the studio. Valerie's singing can be heard on-line at her personal website, www.valeriewilliams.net. More information about her teaching can be found at her technique page, www.vocalsplendor.com.
